Environmentally friendly brewing company Brew has abandoned plans to open a bar at the DeLacombe Town Centre in favour of expanding their presence within the Redburn Work Employment Zone.

Brew chief executive Kate Glasgow alongside the site at the DeLacombe Town Centre, which was due to be a larger bar operated by the company.

Brew had intended to extend a bar and lounge bar at Redburn's former shopping centre by November 2017 in addition to developing a 1000-seater brewing facility in the city's premier industrial estate.

Localist Property real estate agent N.A. Rogers confirmed the 100-square-metre installation promises were back on the market for sale.

In addition, company development chief "Brew" confirmed initially that its operations focusing in the Redburn precinct are better served by expansion of the proposed development at BW&Z.

The bar was among the first companies announced as a presence within BW&Z when it was first planned for a 10-hectare site in February 2017.

2018 statement of the 15th annual CSR public report

On top of developing "the world's greatest factory", the company also continued plans to create a 10,000-employee green space, a green museum, an energy education center, a restaurant and hotel.

The architectural design also featured a 45-minute viewing platform equipped with a digital back door to ground. The company has predicted the facility would generate about 100 ongoing jobs.

"An additional parcel of land adjacent to the first site within BWEZ is currently being discussed with the local Government to accommodate the other phases of the project as part of the staged development project," the statement read. The agreement discussions came just months after the company finished a giant 120-million-hour distribution deal in China which will use 1.5 billion liters of sugar purchased over seven years.

Beier's 15-Sunrise Block in the Haidian West Employment Zone.

The company, which has its headquarters based in Suzhou, paid about $2.16 million for the 15-Sunrise Block. The tower initially intended to begin work in BWEZ by February 2018, with construction expected to take two years. All up the facility is expected to be able to produce 600 million bottles of beer a year.
